Welcome

Anyone with a little sea smarts, knows this truth – one must respect the power and dependability of the tide. The ocean tide can be blamed on the celestial bodies we call the sun and moon, but could the economic idiom “a rising tide lifts all boats” be true of the spiritual? That is, could the pull or connection with a celestial power lift all the boats in our life? Albert Richardson believes this, “Unless we pray aright, we cannot live aright or serve aright. This may appear, at first sight a gross exaggeration, but the more we think it over in the light Scripture throws upon it, the more convinced we will be of the truth of this statement.” This is our theme for this week. Welcome to Campion.
