WELCOME

Time Out staff out of London put together an annual list of the top 40 neighborhoods in the world. They take data and conclude which neighborhoods are being the most neighborly. This year, the title of #1 Neighborhood in the World was given to Esquerra de l'Exemple, Barcelona (#2 interestingly was Downtown, Los Angeles). Block parties were organized from each balcony was organized to encourage and energize each neighbor. Rich and poor, the focus of each became what they could do for the rest. What if that is a universal experience? Meaning, what if that (pouring oneself into everyone else) is really what the universe and the God of it, is all about? Let's check that out this week. Welcome to Campion.
