WELCOME

In 2019 Business Insider shared 24 habits that physiologist have linked with health and happiness (Hikes, star gazing, and reading stories are at the top of the list). Through it all they came to summarize happiness as a journey and not a destination, meaning that happiness is linear and not a point. It’s something we continually practice and pursue. What if that is true for worship!? That is, worship being not so much an event, a point or program, but a way of life, a continued journey. For this month of November, we tune our ears toward Heaven with that question. Welcome to Campion.
