WELCOME

You've heard the tale. A girl was ill. She needed a blood transfusion to save her life. Her brother, having the same type of blood was asked if he would give his blood. Without hesitation, the young boy answered, "Sure!" After the transfusion was completed, the brother turned to the doctor and asked softly, "Now, sir, when will I die?" It took only a moment for the doctor to realize the young boy had thought that giving blood to his sister would kill him. He gave his all for her life. One can't but catch the power of the little story... the eternal power. Welcome to Campion.
